A Modern Royal with a Vision for Global Progress

Shriji Huzur Dr. Lakshyaraj Singh ji Mewar of Udaipur (Shriji) stands as a proud 77th custodian of a 1500-year-old legacy rooted in valour, tradition, and community service, embodying the ethos of his legendary ancestor, Maharana Pratap. As a modern royal, he redefines what it means to be a "working royal" - a free-spirited traveler, rational philosopher, and a "scientific sadhu" who balances heritage with contemporary thought. This distinct approach allows him to transform the Mewar dynasty's values into dynamic actions that shape and uplift society today.

Guided by his motto, "grow through life, not just go through life," Shriji - seamlessly merges tradition with forward-looking community initiatives. His impact spans education, environmental conservation, heritage preservation, and youth empowerment, building a vibrant vision that is as inspiring locally as it is globally, placing each of his remarkable and innovative endeavours at the service of 'the greatest good for the greatest number.' Commended by the Hon'ble President of India, he is a global ambassador for Indian culture and an icon for the youth.

Champion of Education and Philanthropy

With a steadfast commitment to educational reform, on an individual level, he funds the education of an entire girl's government school in Udaipur, continuing the 150-year old Mewar tradition of education for girls. He has impacted over thousand's students, creating a stress-free learning environment at the Maharana Mewar Public School and Maharana Mewar Vidya Mandir by integrating academics with arts, crafts, music, and robotics.

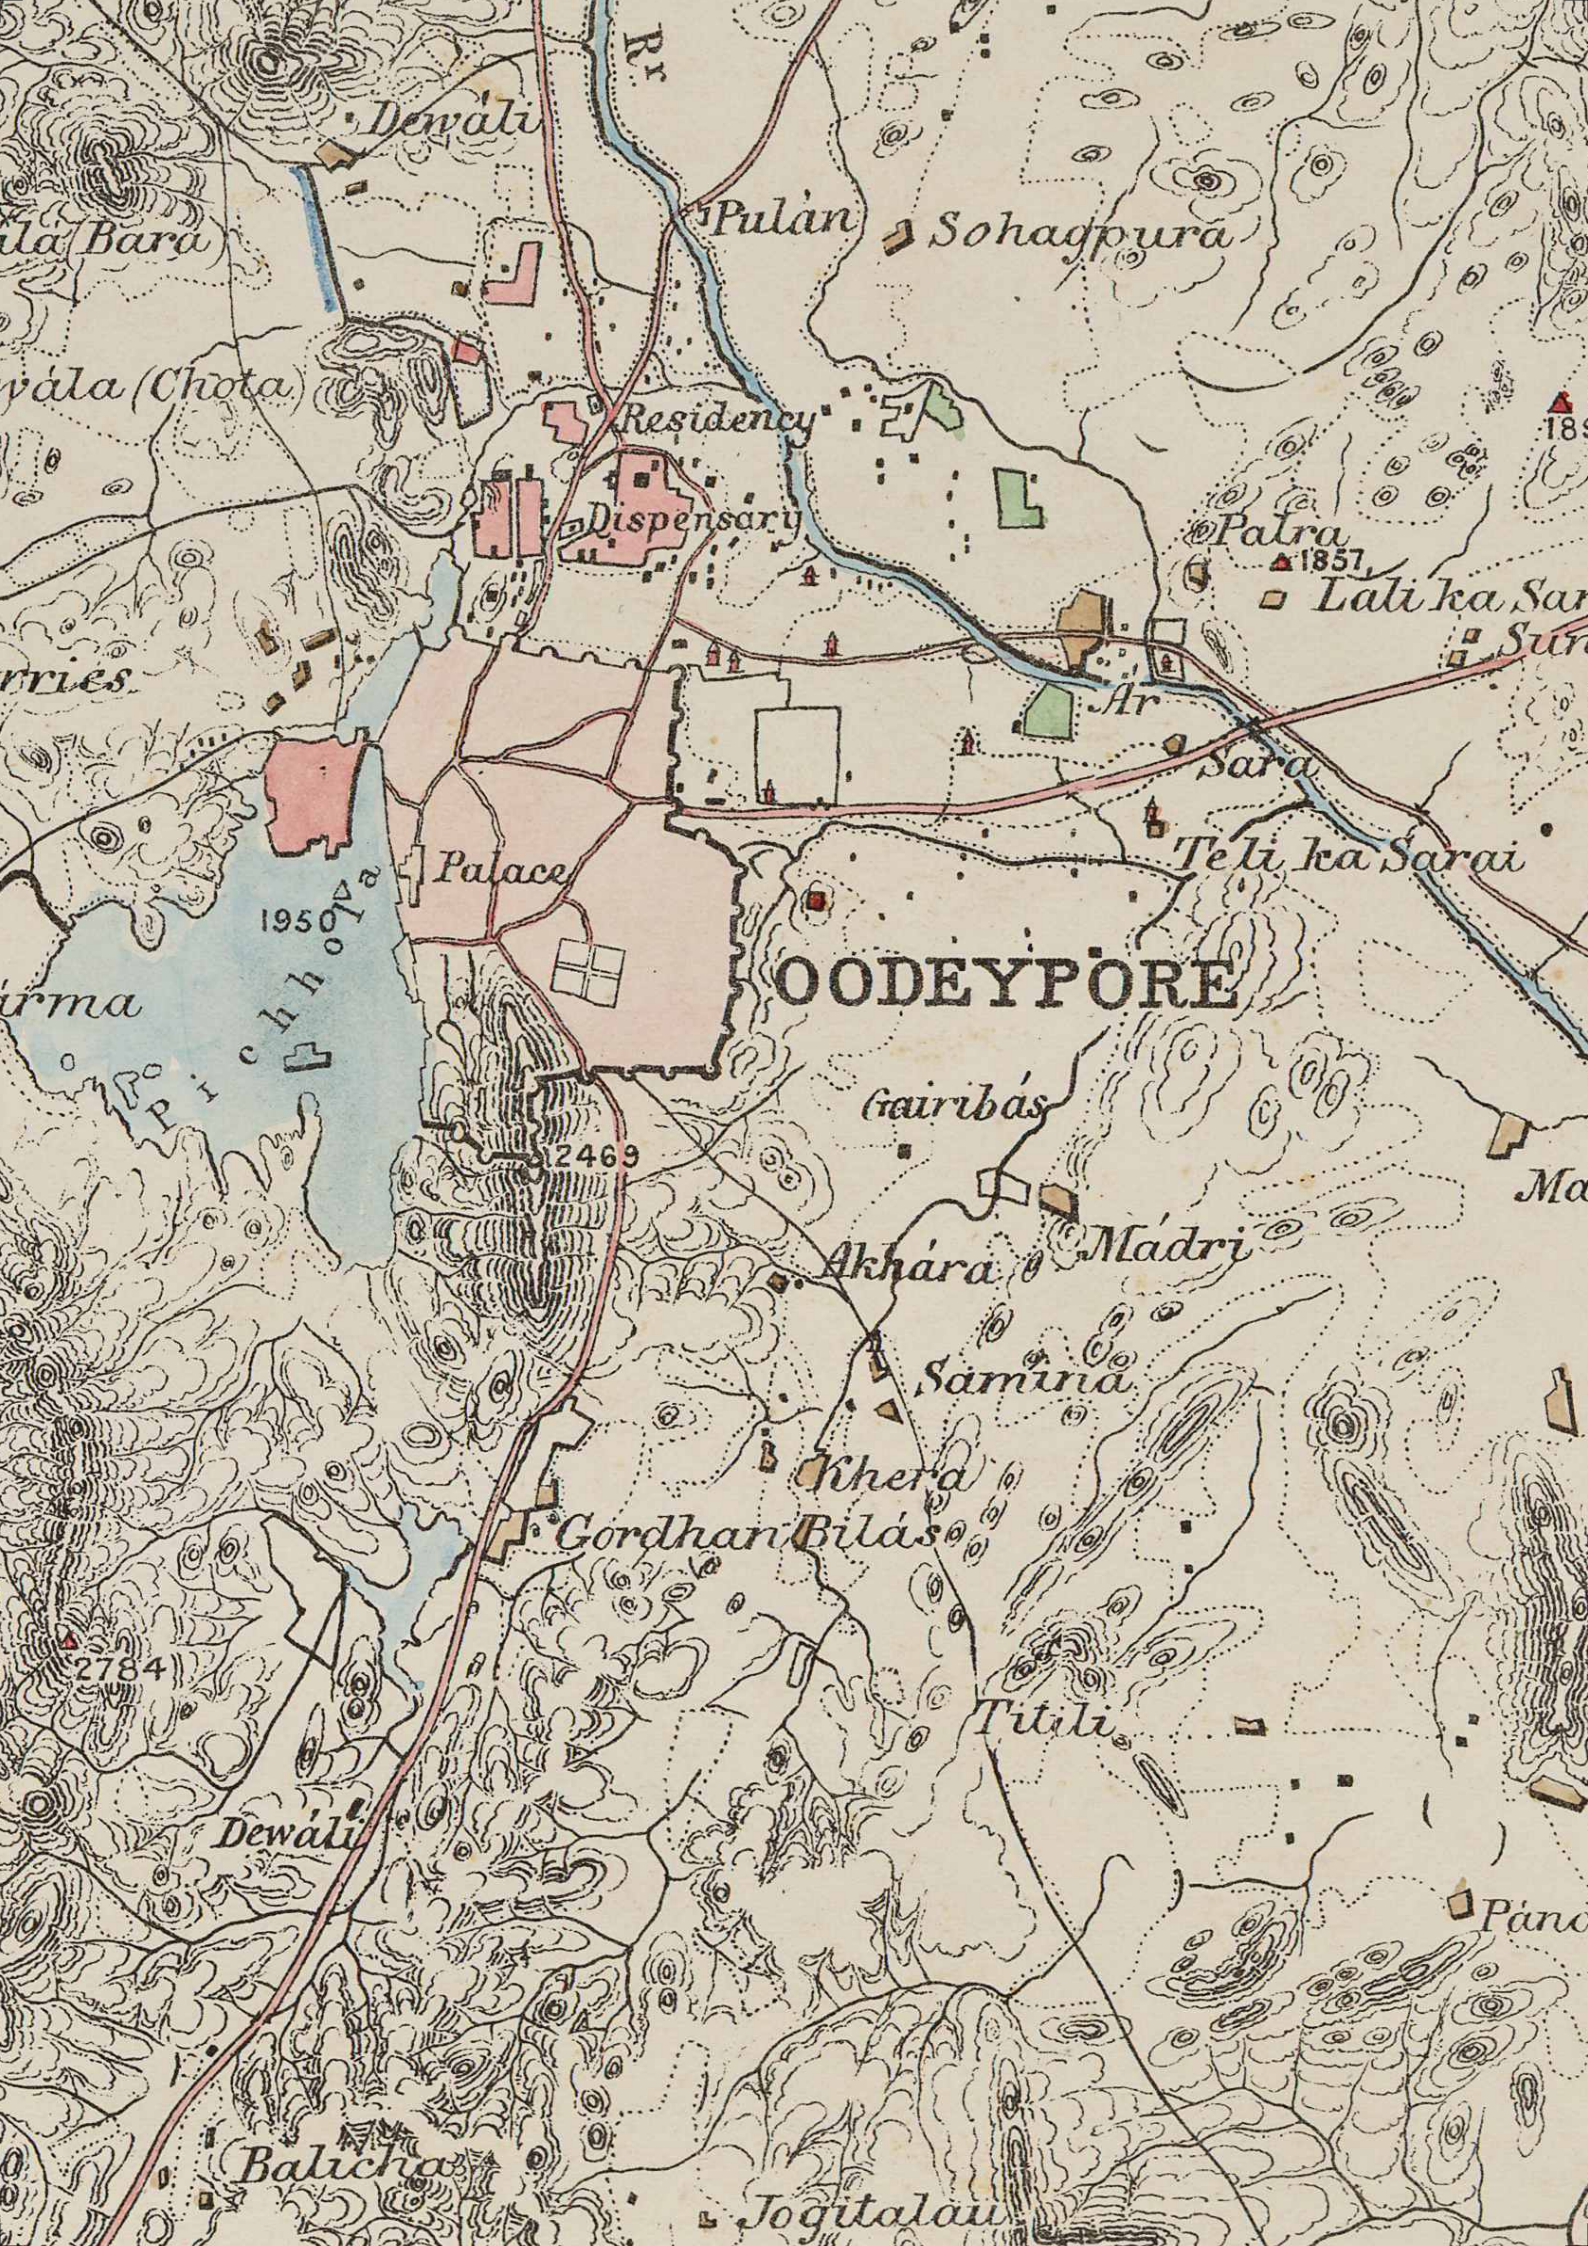

During COVID-19, he coordinated essential supplies, providing food, hygiene kits, and services to vulnerable communities, underscoring his dedication to social welfare on a wide scale. In addition, he works in diverse areas including women empowerment, animal welfare, the welfare of army widows (a 450-year-old generational initiative) and former members of the Army and Police force.

Global Custodian of Heritage

As a Chairman and Managing Trustee of Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation his work revitalizes historical sites and promotes sustainable tourism while taking Udaipur's vibrant art and culture to international museums like London's Victoria & Albert Museum and New York's Metropolitan Museum of Art; The Kunsthalle Der Hypo-Kulturstiftung, Munich; The Chateau de Chambord, France; National Museum of Asian Art, Washington, DC; The Cleveland Museum of Art, Ohio with the Smithsonian Institution, USA; The Museum Rietberg, Zurich, amongst others. As President of the Maharana Pratap Smarak Samiti, Shriji preserves the tangible and intangible heritage of Mewar with modern relevance. Through these initiatives, he celebrates Mewar's legacy while adapting its spirit to inspire a global audience.

Environmentalism and Record Holder

Shriji's commitment to environmental causes is demonstrated through his numerous initiatives for conservation and sustainability. Through the Maharana of Mewar Charitable Foundation, he addresses issues like deforestation, pollution, and water conservation. His 'Go Green' movement and #SaveWater campaigns engage citizens and school children alike, raising awareness for ecological responsibility.

In 2025 he achieved another record by having the largest display of solar powered lamps and in 2026 his tenth world record was achieved as the largest clay water pot sentence. These achievements not only spotlight his environmental advocacy but also reflect his commitment to philanthropy on a global scale.

A Leader in Hospitality and a passion for sports

Through HRH Group of Hotels and as the brand ambassador for the Taj Group of Hotels, he promotes heritage tourism and cultural preservation. His work in hospitality as Chairman and Managing Director of The Lake Palace Hotels and Motels Private Limited merges conservation with community engagement, generating local employment while celebrating Rajasthan's rich heritage.

Dr. Lakshyaraj Singh Mewar has been elected for the third time as the President of the Udaipur District Cricket Association. His election was unopposed as he has consistently stood for promoting cricket, young cricketers and tournaments in Udaipur. Players, coaches and other support staff are given top priority at UDCA under Dr. Lakshyaraj's leadership. His dream project: world class stadium and sporting infrastructure in Udaipur to be established in the heritage city for the sports culture to thrive here for generations.

A Renaissance Man for a New Era

Beyond his public work, Shriji is an accomplished artist, chef, photographer, and aero-modeling enthusiast. He is a collector of diecast car models and formulated a unique perfume which represents the house of Mewar with its fragrance and ingredients.

Epitomizing continuous learning and growth with a degree in hotel management from Australia, and an MBA in Human Resource Management. For securing First Position in MBA examination he is awarded University Gold Medal and Certificate of Merit. He is currently pursuing a PhD: A Study of Stress Management in School Going Students: Assessing the Stress, Identifying the Sources and its Impact on Student's Behaviour and Health.

Shriji Huzur Dr. Lakshyaraj Singh ji Mewar of Udaipur is a true beacon of cultural pride, progressive thought, and purposeful action, dedicated to nation-building and embodying a balanced approach to tradition and modernity for a better future.
